PRESENTATION

Emergency Delivery in the ED: Are You Prepared?

DESCRIPTION

No matter how "naturally" a pregnant patient delivers their child, if it is in your emergency department, it becomes an emergency delivery. During this talk, the speaker will discuss the management of the complications associated with an emergency delivery, identifying necessary equipment, sharing videos of maneuvers for problem deliveries, and identifying patients who cannot be transferred to labor and delivery.

OBJECTIVES & OUTCOMES

- Identify the equipment needed for a successful ED delivery.
- Identify obstetric patients who should not be transferred to a hospital labor area because of their impending delivery.
- Review the typical assistance that should be provided in an emergency delivery.
- Course Roadmap
 - Your Obligations
 - EMTALA
 - Who must deliver in ED?
 - Normal Vagina Delivery
 - Nuchal Cord
 - Breech Delivery
 - Shoulder Dystocia
