

Dr. Greg Jasani has an interest in how health systems prepare for and respond to intentional events. He has authored numerous papers exploring the intersection of terrorism and medicine. He also teaches with the National Consortium for the Study of Terrorism and Responses to Terrorism and is a member of Maryland Task Force 1, Maryland's FEMA Urban Search and Rescue Team. He looks forward to his first deployment with them.