

Michael C. Bond, MD, FACEP, FAAEM, is a professor in the Department of Emergency Medicine at the University of Maryland School of Medicine in Baltimore, MD, and an attending physician at the University of Maryland Medical Center – Midtown campus and recently assumed the role of Chief of Emergency Medicine at the site. He is also the associate designated institutional official at the University of Maryland Medical Center. Dr Bond received his medical degree from the University of Maryland School of Medicine. He completed his emergency medicine/internal medicine residency at Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh, PA, and an Emergency Medicine Foundation teaching fellowship with the American College of Emergency Physicians. In addition, Dr Bond served in the US Navy Reserve as a General Medical Officer.

Dr Bond is a member of numerous professional societies, including the American College of Emergency Physicians, Emergency Medicine Residents' Association, American Academy of Emergency Medicine, and Council of Residency Directors in Emergency Medicine (CORD-EM). He has served on the board of Maryland ACEP since 2012, and as served in the role of treasurer and secretary. Dr. Bond is also Maryland ACEP Councilor, Chair of the Maryland ACEP Education Committee, and was named the Maryland ACEP Physician of the Year for 2020.

Dr Bond has authored or co-authored 40 articles in peer-reviewed scientific journals, 4 books, and 15 book chapters. He has presented more than 140 lectures and workshops at facilities and professional society meetings nationally and internationally.