

Dr. Sullivan is currently completing his final year of training in The Johns Hopkins' Combined Emergency Medicine and Anesthesiology and Critical Care Medicine Residency. He was born in Houston, Texas and completed Undergraduate and Medical School both at Northwestern University in Chicago. He looks forward to a career integrating his two specialties with interests and expertise in resuscitation, trauma, regional anesthesia and pain management.