

Kevin Mortazavi, MD, MHS is an emergency medicine resident at Johns Hopkins Hospital and a member of the American College of Emergency Psychiatry. He earned his medical degree from the University of California, Davis School of Medicine and holds a Master of Health Science in Public Mental Health from the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, where his research examined the impact of substance use policy on adolescent behavioral health. He is the founder of The Dr. Montakhab Foundation, a nonprofit organization supporting underrepresented students and refugees pursuing degrees in STEM. His academic interests include psychiatric emergencies, health equity, and the role of emergency physicians in initiating psychiatric care.